—Little Crow wants to be Let Alone.

The following is from the Chicago Tainersa:

St. Paul, July 18, 1803. The delayed mail from fem. Sible 's expedition has arrived, brincing at vices to the 5th inst. His forces have marched about 175 miles, and are new encamped on Chryumeriver, waiting the arrival of a supply train from Fort Abertrouble. They are not shy again in motion new. The mea and animals have suffered considerable owing to drouth, but the strength that it was in contemplation to abandon the expedition is authoritiesly denied.

Little Crow's measage, through Gov. Dallie, has reached Gen. Sibley. He thinks the hanging and imprisonment of his warriors his been a sufficient off-set for the Indian murders, and wisher to step the war. He is like the rebels, he only wants to be let alone.

The soldiers have buried a number of bedies of persons killed last year, which had been left where they fell by the Indians. Traces of Indians have been seen, but the only diverse they seen, but the only diverse decovered was an indian scout belonging to the expedench, whom a smad of soldiers valiantly captured. All the small streams and lakes have dried up, and the pair is purched to a crust, lives have run over a great extent of country, but notwithstanding this, the expedition will push on as song as human and animal endurance with permit.

We have a report here to day of a man being shot at by Indiana four miles from Minneapole. There as probably the same once whose camp fires were recently seen. A company for indian extendition marker two (Hartch's) leaves here to-mortow for Fort Suchling, where they will be armed and emityped. An Indian hunt took place six miles from St. Peters this week. Three were seen. One was killed and another wounded probably mortally. Citizens in that region are not alarmed, and talk and act as if they were bears and wolves that were certifying the peace. They form a circle and run them down as they
